

Mohammad Nizamuddin is Professor and Pro-Rector at Superior University in Lahore, Pakistan since 2019. He completed his master's degree in Social Sciences at University of Chicago, USA, and Ph.D. in Demography & Population Studies at University of Michigan, USA. He has over 45 years of national and international experience in the fields of higher education, international economic development, and public policy. In his long and distinguished career with the United Nations System, he has been at the forefront of planning, designing and implementing projects geared towards creating global awareness and consensus about the importance of population to socioeconomic development. His main research expertise is about education reforms, population aging, census, and fertility in the context of Pakistan and the world. For his CV in detail check <https://superior.edu.pk/another-glory-to-superior-team/>